The NHL has granted New Jersey Devils forward Travis Zajac a five-year, $32.5 million contract extension, the team announced Thursday. There was no mention of cap space, but Zajac has played this season while playing in New Jersey, including all nine playoff games. Zajac was scheduled to be a restricted free agent on July 1, 2019. The 31-year-old missed almost all of the 2014-15 season with a broken wrist before returning to the Devils on March 27, 2015. He has 47 goals and 43 assists in three seasons with New Jersey. With the extension, he is among the top three-fourths of salary-cap-healthy forwards in the NHL. He has $5.5 million left in salary for the 2017-18 season and a $5.95 million cap hit. Zajac is in his 10th NHL season and has played 227 career regular-season games with 137 goals and 191 assists for 328 points with 11 goals and 12 assists in 20 playoff games.
